The members of the ASAC affirm their commitment to collegiality as the most effective basis upon which to manage the affairs of and maintain excellence within the Asian Studies Program.

II. ASAC Membership

1. Appointment
   Members of the Asian Studies Advisory Council shall be recommended for appointment by the Executive Committee of the Asian Studies Advisory Council and appointed by the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences for three-year terms. Terms shall be staggered so that approximately one-third of the members start a new three-year term at the beginning of each academic year.

2. Eligibility
   Each member of the ASAC shall be a faculty or staff member employed by the University at Buffalo who has a professional interest in advancing knowledge about Asia. UB professors, administrators, and staff in decanal units or administrative offices outside the College of Arts and Sciences who have an interest in advancing education about Asia shall be encouraged to join the ASAC. There is no limit to the number of three-year terms a member of the ASAC may serve, as long as that member remains affiliated with the University at Buffalo.

B. Responsibilities
   1. The Chair shall call meetings of the ASAC at a time and place that is generally convenient for ASAC members.

If the Chair is on leave or not on campus for other reasons for a period of six months or more, the Executive Committee may ask the Dean to appoint another chair.

As long as arrangements are logistically feasible, such requests shall not be denied.
